For 76 years, Presbyterian Homes of Georgia has provided compassionate care for senior adults in an environment of Christian love. Your generosity is an expression of stewardship which ensures that residents never face financial insecurity.

In the 1940s, a woman asked her pastor if there would be a place for her in her final years. Your gift answers Yes to that question by providing financial support to the Caring Hands Fund, which provides financial support to residents. Your gift ensures that no resident will be asked to leave because his or her financial resources have been exhausted.

A widow asked, "Is there a place for me?" You have the opportunity to answer that question today.

“

A SIMPLE QUESTION LED TO A POWERFUL MISSION.

Does our church have a place which cares for older members who have no family and who do not want to be a burden on their friends?
